Goldfinger Factory is an award-winning design, build and teaching platform centred around upcycling to create bespoke furniture and interiors, whilst helping artisans and artisans-in-the-making become self-sustaining through craft and in turn saving materials from landfill.

Located in North Kensington, one of London's most deprived - yet wealthiest - areas, beneath the iconic Trellick Tower, Goldfinger Factory combines a furniture showroom and a café space on one floor and a woodworking workshop and teaching space underneath.

It provides skills training and assists people in finding employment, as well as offering designers, makers and craftspeople a platform to develop and sell bespoke furniture and interiors.
